WHAT IS TOBACCO 21 OR T21?

In December of 2019, the president signed legislation raising the minimum legal age for tobacco sales from 18 to 21. The new law is known as “Tobacco 21” or “T21.” In May of 2020, the Oklahoma governor signed T21 legislation into state law. Federal AND state law now prohibit retailers from selling tobacco to anyone under 21 years of age.

When and where does the new law apply?

Immediately. It is now illegal to sell any tobacco product to anyone under 21, including members of the military. The ban includes cigarettes, cigars and e-cigarettes. It applies to all U.S. states, territories and tribal jurisdictions.

What are the current federal penalties for selling to those under 21?

First-time violators receive a Warning Letter from the FDA. A second violation within 12 months will result in a $292 penalty. A maximum penalty of $11,698 may be assessed for a sixth or subsequent violation at the same retail location within a 48-month period. The FDA may also pursue a No-Tobacco-Sale Order (NTSO) against retailers that have five or more violations within 36 months. Retailers are prohibited from selling regulated tobacco products at the specified location during the period of the NTSO. More information is available at: bit.ly/FDATobEnf

What are the penalties for youth who are caught trying to purchase or those who are using tobacco products?

Where can retailers find resources about preventing underage tobacco sales?

National Resources

The FDA’s “This is Our Watch” program helps tobacco retailers better understand FDA tobacco regulations, the importance of compliance and the greater purpose — protecting youth from the harms of tobacco use. Free resources include a digital age verification calendar that quickly determines if a customer is old enough to purchase tobacco products. The calendar can be programmed to display the exact date a customer must have been born on or before to legally buy tobacco products. Resources are available at: bit.ly/RetailWatch
For a tutorial on using the calendar, visit: bit.ly/CalendarTutorial
