STATE OF THE STATE’S HEALTH STATUS UPDATE

Mr. Derek Pate, Director, Center for Health Statistics, and his staff are working to finalize the State of the State’s Health (SOSH) website. Webinars will be held for the board members to provide a closer look at the website and also to share any insight or feedback before the website is published. Mr. Pate provided some historical context for the State of the State’s Health Report and how it has evolved over time. As updates to the report were needed once again, several listening sessions were conducted in late 2016 and early 2017, with a wide variety of community stakeholders, to get feedback on how to improve the report. Based on the feedback received from those sessions, the State of the State’s Health website was developed. Since that time additional website enhancements have been made and moving forward the SOSH website will be routinely updated on an ongoing basis.
CONSIDERATION OF STANDING COMMITTEES REPORTS AND ACTION

Executive Committee
Ms. Burger reported that the committee discussed public health issues currently in the news, namely the flu and measles. Other topics of discussion included changes in the finance area and the Board of Health meetings possibly visiting some county health departments.

Finance Committee
Ms. Wolfe introduced Kim Bailey, Chief Operating Officer. She came to the health department from the Oklahoma Workers’ Compensation Commission (WCC) where she served as Executive Director and General Counsel. She has a degree from Georgetown University and a Juris Doctorate degree from the University of Oklahoma. She is taking on additional duties and will be the Acting Chief Financial Officer. Ms. Wolfe also thanked the staff of financial services who continue to work diligently toward an efficient resolution.

Accountability, Ethics, & Audit Committee
Dr. Grim indicated there were no known significant audit issues to report at this time.

Public Health Policy Committee
Dr. Stewart reminded everyone that the legislature is now back in session. There was a lot of interest at the Capitol on the proposed revenue package. One of the health department’s legislative priorities is the cigarette tax which was included in this revenue package. Although this revenue package failed to make it through the legislature, smoking cessation is one of the most important things one can do as advocates of public health. It will remain a priority for OSDH.

Dr. Stewart also shared that policy staff have been working to identify bills they think will have a public health impact. Those bills are divided into categories and then distributed to Senior Leadership for further monitoring. Three broad areas are emerging in this legislative session around immunizations, medical marijuana, and governance. Dr. Stewart reminded the Board that State Question 788, Medical Marijuana Legalization, will be on the ballot for June 26th, 2018 and if the bill passes, some of the implementation will belong to the Oklahoma State Department of Health. Dr. Stewart mentioned that it will be important to provide leadership on governance so it remains a strong advocate for public health. The Board will continue to receive regular updates on the bills OSDH is tracking.

REPORT OF THE INTERIM COMMISSIONER
Mr. Doerflinger shared that the agency continues moving forward in finances. Many folks are doing great work and have continued to identify operational areas of concern that will contribute to the overall financial health of the agency. Mr. Doerflinger also mentioned that recommendations have come from the Joint Commission on Public Health and the Board will need to see those recommendations. Last, Mr. Doerflinger asked Dr. Kristy Bradley, State Epidemiologist, to provide an update on influenza and a measles case her team has been working on.

Dr. Bradley reported that this has been a severe flu season. Immunization Service, Acute Disease Service, Public Health Laboratory and the county health departments have been on the front lines of this flu response. Early on Oklahoma was having more of the Type A flu and then shifted to H3N2, the strain of flu that is most associated with severe illness, hospitalization and death. The flu season epidemic peaked the third week of January and there is now a decline in hospitalizations and less patience visits for flu like illness. Currently, the public health lab has seen Type B flu and H1N1 emerge over the last week. Dr. Bradley shared that it is possible to get the flu more than once in a season due to the different strains of the flu. Dr. Legako noted it is still important to get a flu vaccine. On the OSDH website, there is a weekly viral disease surveillance report, Flu View, and it is updated every Thursday at 10 a.m.

Mr. Gary Cox, Executive Director, Oklahoma City-County Health Department shared that their facility held a free drive-through clinic on a Saturday morning for four hours. The event went very well and they were able to give 430 flu shots to those who were appreciative and who otherwise may not have received a flu shot.
Dr. Bradley provided an update on a recently reported measles case. A team of epidemiologists met with staff at the Cleveland County Health Department to identify where the contagious person had been and to determine who might have been at risk. A press release was put out identifying locations of possible exposure. Everyone was cooperative through the process and OSDH staff was able to provide information on symptom follow-up and guidance on appropriate infection control practices that could be followed in healthcare facilities to minimize future exposures or spread. Measles is one of the most contagious viral diseases. This measles case is very rare for Oklahoma and occurred because of international travel.
