- Debra Andersen is working with Rep. McCullough to convene meetings in the summer around common early childhood issues. PEW Charitable Trust is engaged in this process and selects states based on need and readiness in order to help the selected state craft legislation that supports home visiting services in the state.
- PEW helps to provide a quantifying and qualitative statement to legislators that we as a state value quality home visiting services. Out of this, the legislature will also get a combined annual report.
- The role of Smart Start Oklahoma in all of this will be to develop a state-wide perspective of the services and existing legislation in the State; to convene stake holders in the process; to work with the legislature and governor's office.
- PEW has contracted with a lobbyist in Oklahoma to help with the legislation.
