Welcome

The Oklahoma State Department of Health (OSDH) began an initiative almost three years ago to improve infant outcomes in Oklahoma. Over the past three years, the initiative has evolved and is now known as "Preparing for a Lifetime, It's Everyone's Responsibility." Preventing injuries and abuse is a significant piece of this initiative. The Oklahoma Department of Human Services reports there were 34 confirmed cases of physical abuse toward a child where "shaking" was identified as the type of child abuse during state fiscal year 2009. Physical abuse is the leading cause of death and near deaths among infants in Oklahoma. According to Oklahoma vital statistics and hospital discharge data, 62 infants less than one year of age suffered some type of abusive head trauma (AHT) in 2006 and 2007. Of those 62, nine infants died. Many of the infants who do survive suffer permanent physical disability and require extensive and costly medical treatment.

The Oklahoma Hospital Association (OHA) and the OSDH has invited all hospitals to participate in this important program aimed at reducing the incidence of child abuse in Oklahoma. This vital educational program is being implemented, as part of the "Preparing for a Lifetime" initiative, to reduce the incidence of AHT resulting from a child being shaken by their care provider. The Period of Purple Crying is a prevention program designed to educate all parents, whether first-time parents or parents of other children, about coping with the stressors of their baby's first months of life.

For as long as supplies last, all materials to support the implementation of this program are being provided to participating hospitals by the OSDH. All birthing hospitals in the state have been offered an opportunity to participate, and the number of packets each hospital will receive has been based on the total number of requesting hospitals and the number of each hospital's deliveries. Materials provided to the hospital include:

- Program description and protocol
- DVD for new parents to view and take home
- Informational booklet about the Period of Purple Crying
- Parental acknowledgement statement
- Client release form for contact by local provider as indicated
- Resource list for hospital employees for contact with local providers as indicated

Ultimately, our hope is that participating hospitals will find this endeavor worthwhile and assume ownership for the program by incorporating it into the routine standard of care for new and expecting mothers when the supply of materials provided by the OSDH has been depleted.

Additional information on the Period of Purple Crying prevention program can be found online at <http://www.dontshake.org/>. If you have questions, please contact Sherie Trice, (405) 271-7611 or by email, sheriet@health.ok.gov.

"When we started this campaign, Oklahoma was number one in deaths related to child abuse. With the initiation of OU Medical Center's injury prevention program, I wanted this to be a priority focus for education and prevention. I had seen many cases of child abuse come through our trauma center and wanted to be involved in a program of prevention and education that would positively impact our children in Oklahoma. In partnership with the Office of Child Abuse Prevention at the Oklahoma State Department of Health and OU Medical Center's trauma program, 15,000 Period of Purple Crying DVD's were distributed throughout the metro area hospitals. I am thrilled to see the program expand statewide and hope to see the incidence of child abuse significantly decrease."

Contact Information

This comprehensive Oklahoma Home Visitation Services Directory includes programs and resources that are targeted specifically for parents of newborns. The directory was created to accompany the distribution of the “Period of Purple Crying” DVDs to Oklahoma hospitals during the 2011 calendar year. Staff may utilize this directory as a critical referral tool in connecting families with community resources and services at discharge when parents embark on their (potentially challenging) parenting journey.

Home visitation programs and hospital staff are encouraged to update and check for updates often. To make an update or edit program information or to request an electronic version of this directory, please visit this link (<http://fsps.health.ok.gov> under “meeting groups”) or contact us by email or telephone.

Thank you for partnering with this initiative to protect children and help build strong families.
