H. Discussion and possible action to change the verbiage to the regional stroke plan:

Current verbiage:

PRIORITY II STROKE PATIENTS:

These are patients with signs and symptoms of a stroke with a last known well time more than 4 ½ hours but less than 7 hours. These patients are out of the FDA approved window for administration of thrombolytic, however, may still be a candidate for surgical intervention. Priority II patients should be transported to the closest Level I stroke center.

PRIORITY III STROKE PATIENTS:

These are patients with signs and symptoms of stroke with a last known well time that is more than 7 hours. These patients should be transported to the closest Level I or II Stroke Center.

New verbiage:

PRIORITY II STROKE PATIENTS:

These are patients with signs and symptoms of a stroke with a last known well time more than 7 ½ hours but less than 24 hours. These patients are out of the FDA approved window for administration of thrombolytic, however, may still be a candidate for surgical intervention. Priority II patients should be transported to the closest Level I stroke center or the closest Endovascular Thrombectomy (EVT) capable hospital.

PRIORITY III STROKE PATIENTS:

These are patients with signs and symptoms of stroke with a last known well time that is more than 24 hours. These patients should be transported to the closest Level I or II Stroke Center.
