OKDHS Report (October 23, 2007)

OKDHS Child Welfare Services received a report on October 23, 2007, regarding two siblings in the Harger family. Reportedly, the two siblings, ages four and five, were living in a paternal relative's home. Allegedly, the relative's home was filthy and roach infested. Reportedly, the five-year-old child, who has developmental disabilities, had taken a tourniquet to school, stating that a relative with whom the child lived had used the tourniquet; the tourniquet appeared to be blood stained.

The OKDHS accepted the report for assessment. The OKDHS documented that the paternal relatives had stated that the two children had lived in their home for the past three years. OKDHS documentation did not record any concerns from the assessment; the OKDHS did recommend that the five-year-old child continue to receive counseling services and that the adults provide a safe home and environment for the children at all times.

OKDHS Child Welfare Services received another report on May 1, 2008, regarding the five-year-old child. Allegedly, the child had attended school wearing the same set of clothes for the whole week. Reportedly, the child was observed with dirt caked on his arm and the child had stated that he had only eaten cheese for his evening meal.
