

Oklahoma's Credit Union's Youth Financial Literacy (YFL) program helps provide savings and checking accounts to youth who are experiencing homelessness or in foster care. YFL is more than opening a checking account, its goal is to provide youth with the knowledge and tools to manage their money confidently.

Is an ID required?

Oklahoma's Credit Union has developed a verification form that can be used in place of an ID to help remove this barrier.

Do you offer financial education?

Yes! Oklahoma's Credit Union provides workshops on financial success, budgeting, credit scores, borrowing and more.

How much does it cost to open an account?

There is no cost for youth to open a savings or checking account.

How can we schedule a YFL financial workshop?

YFL workshops are scheduled based on your needs, during the day or evening.
