2013 Kate Barnard Award and Luncheon

The Kate Barnard Award and Luncheon were held February 28, 2013. The purpose of this award is to recognize women who have made a difference in Oklahoma through outstanding service as public servants. In 2013, the OCSW presented the award to State Representative Pam Peterson for her work on improving human services and reducing human trafficking.

"Kate Barnard - A Legacy of Courage" was portrayed by Deena Fisher, Ph.D., Advisory Council member and Dean of Northwestern State University in Woodward.

In 1907, Kate Barnard, a native of Oklahoma, became the first woman to win a statewide elect office in the United States. At the time she was elected, she was the only woman on the state ballot, and only men had the vote. She held the office of Commissioner of Charities and Corrections for two terms. She was a key figure in the enactment of a compulsory education law providing for state payments to widows dependent on their children's earnings, of legislation implementing the constitutional ban on child labor, and of laws aimed at unsafe working conditions and the "blacklisting" of union men.

The Oklahoma Commission on the Status of Women has been a member of the NACW since 2003 and has had representation on its Board of Directors since 2006 and on the Executive Team since 2010. OCSW, through its representative, continues to play a prominent role in the make-up of the NACW Board and Committees. At the present time, work is being done in the areas of Nominations, Recruitment, Elections, Board Development training and By-Laws review.
