C. SOLICITATION SPECIFICATIONS

C.1. Overview

Commissioners of the Land Office (CLO) is in the process of implementing a Document and Content Management System. CLO has been converting paper documents into digital format and the agency has legacy digital files that need to be converted and ingested into a document and content management system to add efficiency in retrieving information, creating workflows for day-to-day processes and simplifying the indexing and import of the files into a searchable solution. The system needs to automate this process by sweeping digital formats from a network folder location or through email messages. CLO is looking for a system that captures, classifies, and extracts documents and data automatically.

CLO receives, generates, stores, and shares large amounts of data and documents in various formats and locations. Much of this information must be disseminated to most of internal personnel and to a wide variety of external customers. We are looking for an application that will allow the conversion of both paper and digital documents to be more efficient and that will allow easily searchable and readily accessible content to all our users and customers.

CLO is requesting to have (20) concurrent licenses or a mix of concurrent and dedicated licenses that will fit the needs of the agency. It will have a matching number of workflow licenses. The system should have Microsoft Office Integration, AD Integration, document processor application, content management web server, (2) system administrators and power user training during implementation.

C.2. Specifications

As much of existing CLO content is in paper and electronic format we require an application that will perform the following functions:

- C.2.1. Capture varying forms of paper and electronic documents using owned and leased equipment or by the services of a vendor.
- C.2.2. Thoroughly scan and extract all readable text utilizing OCR to ensure all content is easily searchable. Ensure spell correction using automatically generated customized dictionaries that observe scanned documents and adjust spelling as necessary to accommodate CLO terminology.
- C.2.3. Ensure image quality while limiting file size.
- C.2.4. Automatic page orientation, color detections, and image clean-up.
- C.2.5. Classify documents as they are scanned. Utilize pattern recognition (versus regional preset OCR) to determine the type of document and to extract metadata from the text within the document. We are searching for an application that has the ability to use artificial intelligence to both classify and extract information from documents through the recognition of text flow as it is positioned and laid out on a page.
- C.2.6. Save user time related to data entry and file management through automation within the application when classifying and filing documents and extracting and loading metadata. CLO is looking for an application that automates the ingestion of documents and eliminates separator sheets or data entry without a user or person manually entering or modifying the data except upon review.
- C.2.7. Provide an application that delivers powerful document conversion, classification, and data extraction with minimal administrative involvement. Preferably the application will provide a learning mechanism that the user can apply to teach the system to understand and remember where specific text resides.
- C.2.8. The application needs to have the ability to import (and extract text) a variety of file formats into the repository and continue to display them in their native format.
- C.2.9. Digital project files exist in various and often multiple locations. The application must have the ability to analyze and identify similar or duplicate documents to allow CLO personnel the options to delete redundant content as necessary.
- C.2.10. CLO retains information in unstructured content like Microsoft Outlook e-mails. The application needs to filter through various e-mail accounts to find and import specific emails and attachments, along with extracting metadata from the e-mails and attachments, into the repository.
- C.2.11. While most of CLO information is subject to public consumption the application must have the ability to easily redact ultimately sensitive or confidential information. Where possible, CLO would prefer the application to automatically detect and redact such sensitive or confidential data like Social Security Numbers, addresses and phone numbers, and dates of birth. We require the ability to share the file with redacted information as well as maintain the unaltered original file.

- C.2.12. Minimize Time in Content Migration, when the digital content file servers have been identified and a time is selected to migrate the content to the repository or to extract metadata from the files the application needs to minimize the interruption to those servers and files. The application must handle large volumes of content efficiently through a multiple processing architecture utilizing existing CLO hardware.
- C.2.13. Easily search and retrieve documents thru a Content Management application, system should be able to perform a full text search and/or specific keywords, have capabilities to create workflows for multi-step digital process in a user friendly manner, be able to sign documents electronically and extract workflow packages once completed.
- C.2.14. The features and functionality described in these requirements documents need to be included in a single platform without the need for additional, separate software applications.
- C.2.15. The system should be able to separate the documents into separate digital content repositories/file cabinets and have varying permission capabilities for those repositories as well as down to the individual file level.
- C.2.16. Support existing scanners and equipment the CLO currently uses including MFD in the agency.
- C.2.17. It is required that most of the day-to-day administration/management of the system be easy enough to be handled by a trained employee of the CLO. Guidance of system management through training should be considered in this proposal as well as documentation of the system. End-user training will also be required.
- C.2.18. Vendor is required to perform complete document ingestion into the new Document Management System, as part of data migration. CLO is looking for a turn-key solution based on CLO requirements. System should have the capability to ingest additional electronic and paper files after turn-key as well.

C.3. Data Import Requirements

The CLO has a large repository of existing digital data files that need to be imported into the new system. Implementation of the system will include conversion of electronic file formats, mainly into PDF format, and ingested into a Document and Content Management System. This will be completed by the vendor as part of the turn-key system. These files generally fall into three sets/types of files and are separated in our file store by each type. This will be three separate import process types and should be imported automatically using an out-of-the-box or custom built tool or tools to complete the task. We believe and prefer that these processes can be automated to lower the total cost of the import versus manually indexing them:

- C.3.1. Legacy scanned files that were formally part of an AS400 document system that were exported by individual page to JPEG and have an Access database that is used for data mapping and searching. These files need to be converted to PDF and have full-text OCR as applicable. The Access database is a cross-reference that a migration tool will need to read the location, convert the files to PDF and assemble the JPEGs into multiple document packages based on the data. This database will also be used to index the files and store them in the proper place in the new repository. There are approximately 3.3 million JPEGs for a total of 317 GB of data.
- C.3.2. Many PDF files have additional PDF attributes that the migration tool needs to be able to extract. The attribute data is in the properties of each PDF and used as a type of index for the files. This information needs to be extracted and used as the naming convention and/or index of the documents. The tool will use this information to place the files in the correct new repository locations.
- C.3.3. The third type of data that needs to be addressed are PDF documents that have a library of metadata kept in Excel. This is a manually indexed repository that contains indexing in the Excel file. We believe this data may be directly imported to the new system's database as-is. If not, the migration tool needs to read source data, migrate PDF files, properly name based on CLO standard naming convention, and locate files in the corresponding new repositories. Types 2 and 3 should not exceed 500 GBs of total data.

C.4. Other Requirements

- C.4.1. The vendor is expected to provide guidance and direction on ways to improve efficiency of the CLO's overall processes with regards to data and dataflow through the agency and any other efficiencies that can be defined/affected by the new system.
- C.4.2. Assist in maintaining standards for the agency in dealing with document lifecycle management.
- C.4.3. The vendor is expected to install all necessary software and components and complete all configuration needed for a turn-key product. This includes software customization, workflow process configuration, workflow design and setup, system testing, software and configuration support.
- C.4.4. The CLO will need an estimate/quote for continuing yearly support/professional services to maintain the system in a functioning, updated and secure fashion as well as and continuing software costs/maintenance fees.

- D.3.2. Negotiations shall only be conducted with potentially acceptable Bids. The State reserves the right to limit negotiations to those Bids that received the highest rankings during the initial evaluation phase.
- D.3.3. Terms, conditions, prices, methodology, or other features of the Bid may be subject to negotiations and subsequent revision. As part of the negotiations, the Bidder may be required to submit supporting financial, pricing, and other data in order to allow a detailed evaluation of the feasibility, reasonableness, and acceptability of the Bid.
- D.3.4. The requirements of this Solicitation shall not be negotiable and shall remain unchanged unless the State determines that a change in such requirements is in the best interest of the State Of Oklahoma.
- D.3.5. BEST and FINAL – The State may request best and final Bids if deemed necessary, and shall determine the scope and subject of any best and final request. The Bidder is cautioned that the requirements of this Solicitation can be altered only by written Amendment approved by the State and that verbal communications from whatever source are of no effect. In no event shall the Bidder's failure to read and understand any term or condition in this Solicitation constitute grounds for a claim after award of the Contract.

E.3.2. The Bid should be paginated and indexed in alpha order with reference to specific sections of this Solicitation. All Bids shall be legibly written or typed. Any corrections to Bids shall be initialed. Penciled Bids and penciled corrections shall not be accepted and shall be rejected as non-responsive. - E.3.10. If a Bidder fails to notify the State of an error, ambiguity, conflict, discrepancy, omission or other error in this Solicitation, known to the Bidder, or an error that reasonably should have been known by the Bidder, the Bidder shall submit a Bid at its own risk; and if awarded the Contract, the Bidder shall not be entitled to additional compensation, relief, or time by reason of the error or its later correction. If a Bidder takes exception to any requirement or specification contained in this Solicitation, these exceptions must be clearly and prominently stated in the Bid.

If forwarded separately, the executed Amendment must contain this Solicitation number and Closing Date and Time on the front of the envelope. The State must receive the executed Amendment by the Closing Date and Time specified for receipt of bids for the Bid to be deemed responsive. Failure to agree to a Solicitation Amendment may be grounds for rejection.
- E.5.2. No oral statement of any person shall modify or otherwise affect the terms, conditions, or specifications stated in this Solicitation. All Amendments to this Solicitation shall be made in writing by the State.
- E.5.3. It is the Bidder's responsibility to check the State's website frequently for any possible Amendments to this Solicitation that may be issued. The State is not responsible for the Bidder's failure to download any amendment documents required to complete its Bid.
